

PATIENT EDUCATION MATERIALS

The Children's Cardiomyopathy Foundation (CCF) offers several educational materials on pediatric cardiomyopathy. These resources were developed in consultation with CCF's medical advisors, parents of affected children and in some cases medical associations and educational professionals.

Understanding Pediatric Cardiomyopathy

This 14-page overview booklet with accompanying inserts on dilated, hypertrophic, restrictive and left ventricular non-compaction cardiomyopathy is designed to answer the most common questions parents may have following their child's diagnosis. The easy-to-understand booklet covers topics such as causes, diagnosis, symptoms, treatments, family screening, coping and research.

Understanding Dilated Cardiomyopathy

Cardio What? A Kids' Guide to Cardiomyopathy

Developed in collaboration with the National Society of Genetic Counselors, this 29-page booklet uses child-friendly language, colorful illustrations and fun activities to help children understand their own or another family member's cardiomyopathy diagnosis.

Ensuring a Good Learning Environment: A Cardiomyopathy Resource Kit for School Personnel and Parents

This resource kit is intended to educate school staff about the disease and guide parents in working with their child's school to obtain the appropriate accommodations and modifications. The kit includes two guidebooks, a sample school letter and templates for a healthcare plan, 504 education plan and emergency care plan.

Secrets of the Heart: Living with Pediatric Cardiomyopathy

This 38-minute video provides both knowledge and comfort as it weaves valuable information from top cardiomyopathy experts with the stories of three different affected families, all who are successfully managing the challenges of living with cardiomyopathy.

CCF Overview Pamphlet

This pamphlet gives a quick overview of the disease and serves as an introduction to CCF's history, mission, programs and services.
